"While the groundbreaking marked an exciting and visible first step for our new hospital, an enormous amount of commitment has gone into this – in the recent past and throughout our history," shared John F. O'Malley MSA, MBA, FACHE, President Trinity Health Livingston Hospital and Trinity Health Medical Center - Brighton. "I look forward to joining together as a team and a community to build on a foundation of excellence and a healthier future for Livingston County."

Construction of the new modern, 174,000 square-foot Trinity Health Livingston hospital represents a $238.2-million investment into the community. An upcoming philanthropy campaign with a goal of $5 million will support this important effort to improve the patient experience, elevate clinical excellence, and make an impact on peoples' lives.

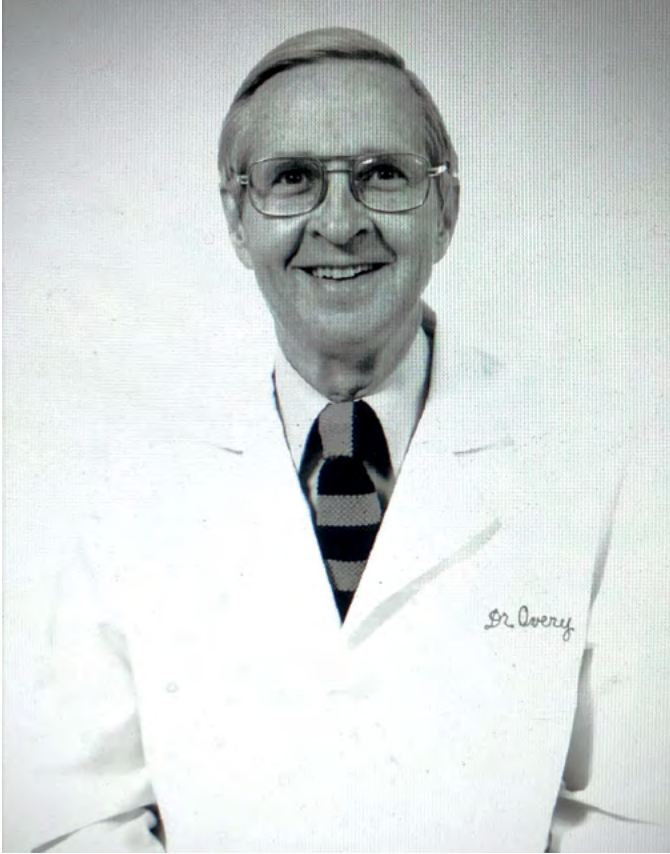

This past December, John O'Malley sent a letter to our philanthropy community announcing the project. He stated that by constructing our new hospital at our Trinity Health Medical Center – Brighton campus, we are creating a healing environment for inpatient services alongside our world-class specialty care currently offered there, including many services that were added thanks to the support from our donors.

The new hospital will enhance medical services from an easily accessible location, delivered by the exceptional providers our patients have come to know and trust. The new hospital facility will be a destination for individuals and families in Livingston County who

Dr. Donald Overy Retired Physician Continues to Lead the Way

In the 1960s, at a time when cardiovascular care started advancing dramatically, Dr. Donald Overy and his partner, Dr. Michael Kozonis, were members of the Internal Medicine Staff at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac, now Trinity Health Oakland. Together, they were pioneers on the forefront of cardiovascular care at the hospital.

“We had learned about new capabilities being applied at university hospitals that could save patients’ lives and we felt strongly that we needed to be able to offer the same level of care in the community hospital setting to serve more people,” shared Dr. Overy.

After visiting health systems that were using newly developed defibrillation equipment to restore the normal heart rhythm of patients experiencing cardiac arrest, Dr. Overy and Dr. Kozonis presented their case for establishing the hospital’s first Coronary Care Unit to the Sister Superior serving as the hospital administrator at the time.

“Sister said the hospital could purchase the equipment, but had no one to install it,” shared Dr. Overy. “Dr. Kozonis and I did not hesitate, we took the opportunity, determined we would solve for the rest.”

When the 24 boxes of equipment arrived, Dr. Overy and Dr. Kozonis spent an entire weekend installing it. Dr. Overy recalls running electrical wires through the ceiling to the new monitoring equipment that would be used to identify when patients were experiencing irregular heartbeats. By Monday morning, the first patients were admitted to the Coronary Care Unit that consisted of two patient rooms with four beds and monitoring stations across the hall to support the new capabilities.

“Within the first year, we reduced the mortality rate for acute myocardial infarction, commonly known as a heart attack, at our hospital by 50%,” stated Dr. Overy.

Building on the success of the Coronary Care Unit, Dr. Overy, Dr. Kozonis, and many other physicians and hospital leaders and staff contributed over the years to establish our renowned cardiovascular services that exist today, including some key areas such as Cardiac Surgery, Cardiac Catheterization, Cardiovascular Imaging, and Cardiac Rehabilitation.

Dr. Overy recounts that being a champion for the Cardiac Rehab program was among the most important initiatives in his career. “Before the development of Cardiac Rehab programs, we had little to offer our patients who were recovering from invasive treatments like open heart surgery, beyond telling them, ‘Take it easy,’” shared Dr. Overy. “We realized we could do more. Our hospital’s Cardiac Rehab program was developed to help patients recover and rebuild their strength and health, as well as help prevent future cardiac issues.”

With the support of donors like Dr. Overy, Trinity Health Oakland recently relocated our Cardiac Rehab

Center to a renovated, modern space with natural light and state-of-the-art equipment, such as the NuStep. This new space supports Trinity Health Michigan's approach to Cardiac Rehab designed to help people who have experienced various cardiac conditions and treatments. A team of experts provides patients with a personalized approaches to the three essential elements for a healthy heart:

- Exercise – Regular physical activity tailored to your abilities, needs and interests
- Education – Learning about your heart problem, its causes and treatments, and the ways you can manage it
- Behavior Changes – Advice on lifestyle changes that lower your risk of future heart problems

In addition to his recent support for Cardiac Rehab, Dr. Overy has been a donor to Trinity Health Oakland for decades. He and his late wife, Elsie Overy, were members of the hospital's giving society, McAuley Club.

Early in his career, Dr. Overy, who had served in the Navy as well as other Michigan area hospitals, chose to practice exclusively at Trinity Health Oakland. Additionally, Elsie was a clinical social worker and a fellow champion for philanthropy. Throughout the years, the couple planned their giving in support of the hospital's greatest needs as well as areas inspired by their professional and personal interests.

Meet Vinny

Chelsea Hospital's New K-9 Officer

Thanks to a generous gift from the Chelsea Hospital Auxiliary, we have trained and welcomed a new K-9 Officer, Vincent, known more fondly as "Vinny." He was named for St. Vincent de Paul, patron saint of volunteers, to recognize our Auxiliary's dedication.

K-9 Vinny will partner with his handler, Chelsea Hospital Security Officer Thomas Maslak, and has the duties of pet therapy, outreach to our patients and community, and safety.

"We think of Vinny as an ambassador for the hospital," shared LuAnn Koch, president of the Chelsea Hospital Auxiliary. "As Auxiliary members, we are dedicated to ensuring visitors and patients feel welcomed, safe, and comfortable. The K9 program was a perfect fit for our giving because it really aligns with our work and goals. We were pleased to have an opportunity to work with the hospital on developing a program that would touch so many lives."

The Chelsea Hospital Auxiliary consists of 50 members who volunteer in the Gift Shop, at the Front Desk, and in the Cancer Center, Surgery and Endo reception areas. Under the guidance of the Auxiliary, the revenue generated through their work in the Gift Shop is invested back into the hospital to improve the colleague and patient experience.

"Chelsea Hospital has always been known for its patient-centered care and its engaging partnership with the community. The Auxiliary's commitment as volunteers, their ongoing giving, and their most recent support for the K9 Program help to build on that reputation and purpose," shared Jennifer Maisch, Director of Major Gifts, Chelsea Hospital. "We are grateful to the Auxiliary for the ongoing dedication to our mission."

In addition to our K-9 program, Chelsea Hospital proudly offers pet therapy in partnership with Therapaws of Michigan.

Grateful Patient Gives in Support of New Trinity Health Michigan Heart School of Adult Echocardiography

After receiving life-saving cardiovascular care from the team at Trinity Health Ann Arbor, Tom Abrams was incredibly grateful. This experience inspired ongoing giving from the Abrams Family Foundation that has now reached more than $200,000, funding high-tech cardiovascular imaging equipment and, most recently, scholarship funding for students attending the new state-certified Trinity Health Michigan Heart School of Adult Echocardiography (ECHO).

The ECHO is a vital imaging tool used to evaluate the heart function and how blood flows through the heart chambers and valves. It is often done when a patient is experiencing chest pains or shortness of breath and is among the tests used in diagnosing cardiovascular issues.

The Trinity Health Michigan Heart School of Adult Echocardiography was developed as a highly specialized and accelerated certificate program that trains students over a 52-week period to become knowledgeable healthcare professionals who assist in diagnostic procedures performed in an Adult Cardiac Ultrasound Laboratory setting.

“Donor funding is the spark to create innovative programs that recruit talented individuals and develop experts so that we can ensure patients get the care they need.”

Kevin Moore
Executive Director, Michigan Heart

“We knew we needed an innovative solution in response to a shortage of ECHO techs so that we could serve our patients with timely, quality care. Developing our ECHO School was the answer, it helps to attract the best candidates to this expertise, aligns them with our specialty-trained professionals and an incredible learning environment, and drives the future of care for our community and beyond,” shared Steven Girard, MD, PhD, Medical Director, Trinity Health Michigan Heart School of Adult Echocardiography.

Three outcomes of COVID-19 led to the need for Trinity Health Michigan Heart School of Adult Echocardiography:

- Reduction of university-based ECHO programs have resulted in fewer students graduating with this certificate
- This field saw a high rate of retirees and job changes during this time frame
- There was an increase in the number of patients requiring ECHO studies due to heart issues caused by COVID-19

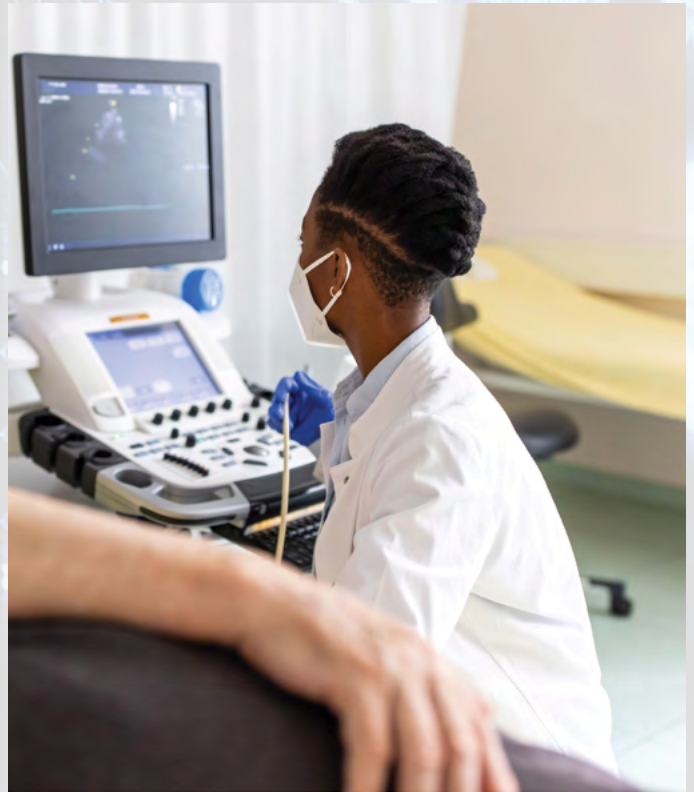

In 2022, Trinity Health Michigan Heart performed nearly 17,000 inpatient ECHOs at our three hospitals in Ann Arbor, Livingston and Chelsea and nearly 12,000 outpatients ECHOs at our four clinics located throughout Southeast Michigan.

The philanthropic funding provided by the Abrams Family Foundation will be used to provide scholarships to students entering the Trinity Health Michigan Heart School of Adult Echocardiography. While the program is state certified it does not have a government financial aid component such as student loans. The scholarship funding will help to attract students and make it available to a wider pool of candidates.

“Our first four students are enrolled for the September 2023 launch of the program,” shared Regina Soberano-Danek, Cardiac Ultrasound Program Coordinator, Trinity Health Michigan Heart. “Students enter with a bachelor’s degree and earn their ECHO certificate through our instruction that includes classroom learning focused on physical anatomy and equipment operation as well as clinical, hands-on experiences serving patients alongside our experts at our hospital training sites.”

Once graduated with a certificate from the Trinity Health Michigan Heart School of Adult Echocardiography, our talent recruitment team will support students in their job search, including openings at our Trinity Health ministries in Michigan and throughout the nation.

“We are so grateful to the Abrams Family Foundation for the philanthropic funding for scholarships for our ECHO students. This funding will allow us to create opportunities and attract a diverse, committed and talented pool of students who seek compassionate, high-quality medical care close to home. The new four-story Trinity Health Livingston hospital will consist of:

- 56 acuity adaptable beds* in private, modern inpatient rooms that have ample room for loved ones and visitors, plus our 18 existing Short Stay Unit beds
- 8 licensed operating rooms within a state-of-the-art Surgery Center
- The new design features a healing environment and areas to retreat with a new dining room, chapel, and courtyard for patients, visitors, colleagues and physicians; plus a window-lined corridor directly to and from the Trinity Health Medical Center - Brighton
- The project also includes major renovations to the existing ER at the Trinity Health Medical Center - Brighton

*A key feature noted above are the acuity-adaptable patient rooms that bring care to the patient rather than requiring the patient to be transferred to other units of care. Acuity-adaptable rooms will accommodate medical, surgical and intermediate care (also called step-down) from one centralized room throughout the patient's stay, from admission to discharge.

When it opens in 2026, the new hospital will bring together leading health care providers and services to offer a continuum of care in one convenient location for Livingston County and surrounding communities.

"Adding inpatient care to our Brighton campus provides opportunities to integrate services to make care safer, easier and more comfortable for our patients and their families," stated Karla Zarb, RN, BSN, MS, Vice President of Surgical Services for Trinity Health - Southeast Michigan. "Today's complex care requires our teams to work closely together. Our dedicated physicians, clinicians and colleagues will offer the same advanced care, and now benefit from an optimal working environment as well."

“This project builds on your dedication as leaders, health care teams, community partners, and philanthropic supporters,” stated Rob Casalou, President and CEO, Trinity Health Michigan, at the groundbreaking event. “As a non-profit health system, philanthropy for the new hospital will help to forge our future. Like past projects, there are levels of excellence that giving can make possible, as we have seen most notably in building and sustaining our Warren R. and Lauraine A. Hoensheid Cancer Center, Breast Imaging Services, ERs, Surgical Services, and community health and well-being programs. We want to take this opportunity to thank our donors who have contributed to our success and whose commitment to this project will have an ongoing impact.”

“...philanthropy for this project will help to forge our future.”

Rendering, exterior of the new Trinity Health Livingston Hospital with courtyard and direct access to Trinity Health Medical Center - Brighton, to create easy access and a healing environment for our community.

Key medical services offered at the new hospital will include:

Cardiology & Intensive Cardiac Rehab • General Medicine • Gynecological Surgery • Minimally Invasive General and Bariatric Surgery • Oncology • Orthopedics • Primary Care • Urology

A philanthropic campaign will be revealed in the coming months to support the new hospital and build on past giving. Dr. Donald Overy and the late Mrs. Elsie Overy at a McAuley Club event in 2017.

Dr. Overy, who celebrated his 100th birthday in 2022, recalls his time at “St. Joe’s” fondly. “I had been working with a couple hospitals early on in my career, but my allegiance was to St. Joe’s,” shared Dr. Overy. “We were like a family there. We had a small team dedicated to excellence; we invested in the hospital through giving; and we had fun times together outside of work with our spouses and kids.”

“We are extremely grateful to Dr. Overy and recognize that his giving builds upon the legacy of support he began with his wife, Elsie, during her lifetime. Dr. Overy is among our retired physicians who not only laid the groundwork for the world-class medical and surgical programs we take pride in today, but also continue to invest through philanthropy,” shared Shannon D. Grant Recognizes the Heroism of our Health Care Workers

The Livonia Community Foundation (LCF) made a grant of $10,000 through the Hardies Family Trust to support engagement activities for Trinity Health Livonia colleagues. The grant recognizes the compounding effects of the COVID-19 pandemic on our health care workers and demonstrates the high value our community places on our team.

“Our Foundation Board Officers and Trustees are proud to join with individuals, families and corporations to continually build on Livonia’s reputation as a top place to live and work and to make our community better for everyone,” stated John Hiltz, President, Livonia Community Foundation. “This grant was made possible with funding from the Hardies Family Trust, designated in support of frontline health care workers, first responders and others who have served our community throughout the COVID-19 pandemic. We know the bravery, quick response, endurance and expertise the Trinity Health Livonia team has shown in dedication to keeping people safe and healthy in the midst of a global health crisis – a crisis that hit Livonia especially hard. This grant aligns with the Hardies Family Trust’s vision and with the Foundation’s mission and our partnerships with the hospital and other agencies to do good.”

As the COVID-19 pandemic transitions into the endemic stage, there are lingering and compounding effects on our health care workers, who have risen to the ever-changing frontline demands of this health crisis. This funding for robust colleague engagement and retention efforts will make a direct impact on our health care workers and help provide them with much deserved recognition and support.

“Our team is the heart of our mission. We are grateful for this grant from the Livonia Community Foundation through the Hardies Family Trust, which is helping to launch programming that demonstrates to our frontline health care workers how valued they are as experts and as people, by our hospital and our community,” stated Nick Nickolopoulos, Chief Nursing Officer, Trinity Health Livonia.
